

Zahn Dental Announces Agreement with Formlabs at LMT LAB DAY Chicago 2017

February 24, 2017

Form 2, a Three-Dimensional Printer That Helps Enhance Digital Printing Capabilities for Laboratory Technicians, Now Available from Henry Schein's Lab Business

MELVILLE, N.Y., February 24, 2017 – Zahn Dental, Henry Schein, Inc.'s dental laboratory business, announced today at LMT LAB DAY Chicago 2017 a distribution agreement with Formlabs, designer and manufacturer of powerful and accessible three-dimensional (3D) printing systems. As part of the agreement, Zahn Dental will offer Formlabs's Form 2 desktop 3D printers and high-performance dental resins.

The printer, which uses Dental SG Resin – one of the first biocompatible resins in desktop 3D printing – offers laboratories an in-house solution that helps enhance the precision and accuracy of biocompatible surgical guides. In addition to surgical guides, Form 2 can be used for a variety of dental applications that can help improve patient outcomes of surgical procedures, such as orthodontic crown and bridge models, educational models, bleaching trays, retainers and aligners.

"Zahn's agreement with Formlabs underscores our commitment to providing customers with digital solutions they can rely on," said Ken Haldeman, General Manager, Zahn Dental - U.S. "Formlabs products have become indispensable tools for dental innovation. By continuing to offer innovative material and technology, we - together with our partners, including Formlabs - are helping drive the adoption of digital dentistry, which is powered by 3D printing."

"We are very excited to be working with Zahn to offer this market-leading solution for laboratory technicians who are looking to push new boundaries in digital dentistry," said Luke Winston, Head of Sales and Service at Formlabs.
