

The following email was sent on April 24, 2018 to customers of the Company:

April 23rd was a big day for the Henry Schein Veterinary family! We wanted to reach out to you personally, to let you know about the future of Henry Schein Veterinary Solutions, Henry Schein Animal Health, and all our Global Animal Health divisions. As was announced, Henry Schein will combine all of its Global Animal Health divisions and merge them into one business; Vets First Corp., pending Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and other appropriate regulatory approvals. We expect this transaction to finalize by the end of 2018.

What outcomes will this drive for you?

There are many great things coming from this partnership. In the last few years, Henry Schein Veterinary Solutions has been formed from what was four technology companies in North America (McAllister Software (AVImark), Vetstreet, ImproMed, and eVetPractice) as well three technology companies internationally (Vision, RxWorks and RoboVet). As we became one much larger international technology team, we directed our focus on a new mission—Delivering the Freedom of a successful Veterinary Practice. We believe merging our Animal Health businesses with Vets First Choice will only accelerate our pace toward that mission.

When will you see benefits?

You are likely wondering, since the transaction does not complete until the end of the year, what does this mean for you—it really means business as usual. Both companies will operate separately until the merger is final and complete and we'll make sure you know exactly when that happens. For now, we will continue to work on improving the solutions, service and products we bring to you as your technology provider.

Please know that our Support, Sales, and Account Management are still the same. Your favorite HSVS team members are all still here and available in the same means as before.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to give us a call.

We look forward to increasing the value we bring to you, our customer, helping you to achieve a successful practice.

Looking with anticipation to the future....
